

FORT DE RUSSY TO GET FIFTEEN NEW BUILDINGS

Bids Advertised for Today for Two Barracks and 13 Other Structures at Post

Plans for new barracks at Fort De Russy were slightly altered by the contracting quartermaster in order to make the buildings suitable for the companies which are to occupy them, and bids are called for today for the two barracks and 13 other frame structures.

One of the new barracks is to accommodate 119 men, the number required for the two 14-inch guns, and the other will house 109 men. The two barracks buildings will be built on Kalia road.

Four cottages for officers are to be built between the barracks and the sea and six non-commissioned officers' quarters will be constructed on the Ewa side of the officers' quarters.

A dispensary, guard house and an administration building are to be constructed near the barracks.

The buildings are all placed on the seaward side of Kalia road, so that all the land mauka of the road will be left open for any other structures which may be planned later. It is understood, though unofficially, that as soon as plans are prepared large barracks will be built on this land for the accommodation of more troops, which are expected to be ordered here before the end of the next year.

Sewer pipes and water mains are to be put in at De Russy, and later roads will be improved and the grounds beautified, but the work on the grounds has not yet been fully planned.

Plans for the buildings for which bids have been asked, and for the sewer and water pipes, can be obtained from the constructing quartermaster's office on Hotel street.

SOLDIERS ACCUSED OF SELLING DRUGS TO FACE GRAND JURY

Following a hearing before U. S. Commissioner George S. Curry, A. Williams, A. A. White and E. Page, former soldiers, were bound over to the federal grand jury on charges of having violated the internal revenue laws in that they attempted to dispose of a quantity of cocaine.

It is alleged that the defendants attempted to dispose of the drug shortly after a quantity of cocaine, heroin and morphine was stolen from the hospital warehouse at Schofield Barracks. A former enlisted man named Jones recently pleaded guilty before the commissioner to a charge of having stolen drugs from the warehouse. In the matter of Williams, White and Page, bond in the sum of $250 was fixed in each case.

The Japanese mass meeting which was to have been held last evening at the Asahi theater was postponed until Tuesday evening, when the Japanese citizens will meet to plan a further campaign for police protection.

M'CARN RESIGNS; STAR-BULLETIN'S NEWS CONFIRMED

The news published exclusively by the Star-Bulletin on September 22 last, that District Attorney McCarn would quit office on January 1, was reiterated in advice received by the Advertiser early yesterday and briefly confirmed by McCarn yesterday.

On September 22 the Star-Bulletin published on the first page the following:

"Information which has reached Honolulu from Washington is to the effect that District Attorney Jeff McCarn will quit office on January 1."

"The presumption is that Horace W. Vaughan of Texas, who has just arrived to take the office of assistant district attorney, will succeed Mr. McCarn. A cablegram from Washington some days ago, announcing the Texan's appointment, said that he would probably succeed McCarn when the latter retires. Private information from the capital now sets the date of McCarn's retirement at January 1."

In connection with the information, which the Star-Bulletin had received from an authoritative source, McCarn was asked for a statement. He made the following carefully worded reply:

"I have not sent in my resignation, have not definitely decided that I shall ever do so, have not mentioned the subject of resignation to the attorney-general, nor has he ever mentioned the subject to me."

Rumors of Vaughan's Appointment.

Before this time the rumor was well-defined that McCarn was on the point of quitting office here.

On September 10 the Star-Bulletin published the first news of Assistant District Attorney Vaughan's coming. This was in a letter from the mainland to a Honolulu man and declared that Vaughan had been appointed and was on his way here. On September 16 a special despatch to the Star-Bulletin from its Washington correspondent confirmed the fact of Vaughan's appointment and predicted that he would succeed McCarn.

Mr. McCarn said today that his resignation had been forwarded to the department of justice more than a month ago.

"I expect to leave Honolulu about the first of the year, as there is a lot of work here that I will have to finish," he added. "However, I may finish in time to leave this month and get back to Tennessee in time for Christmas. I have heard nothing regarding who my successor will be. Do I expect to ever return to Honolulu? Oh, yes, I probably will come back some day and visit my friends. I have some friends here, you know."

Assistant District Attorney Vaughan said he did not know whether he was to be appointed to succeed Mr. McCarn.

"I wouldn't be surprised if I were called upon to take charge of the office," he said. "Whatever the department wants me to do, I am willing to do."

HULL SHIP WILL BRING MILLIONS HERE IN SEASON

Fred L. Waldron Prophesies
Tourist Boom; Officers of Ship Guests at Luncheon

here in the American merchant marine, and the more it grows the better we like it.

Was Welcome Piece of News.

"It was a welcome piece of news when we heard that the Great Northern was coming to Honolulu and now that the run is a matter of fact we extend our heartiest aloha to the captain, his officers and the company of tourists who have come with him."

Mayor Lane, the second speaker, called upon the businessmen of the city to back the Great Northern. He declared that the Great Northern's coming has opened a new era for these islands. He said that if the big liner stays the much sought tourist trade is assured. "Let us unite to bring them, therefore," he said.

Capt. Ahman spoke very briefly. He said the news that the Great Northern was to be put on the Honolulu run came to him as a sudden but very agreeable surprise, and that he trusted the vessel might be kept running to Hawaii and Hawaii only. He thanked his hosts for the courtesies extended to the ship.

L. N. Brunswig, "special ambassador" from the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly on the mutual advantages which Honolulu and Los Angeles will derive from the splendid new service.

Mr. Waldron spoke as follows: Adds to General Welcome.

"On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, its president is most pleased to add to the general welcome extended to the officers of the steamship Great Northern."

"I am not altogether a believer in the interpretation of the word 'luck' but, to use the word in a common way, the advent of the Great Northern simply adds to the many lucky evolution of incidents Hawaiian. One everlasting streak of luck has followed the political changes of the Hawaiian islands. The luck following the political status has by no means overshadowed the so-called luck in the industrial and commercial progress, the only difference being that the latter has been rather the result of real hard work and consistent study, and its earnings have been well deserved."

"As we are aware, there has been during the last several years, first a periodical and later an almost continual congestion of the passenger traffic between Honolulu and the Pacific coast. This congestion as you know resulted in several merry discussions as to the advisability of an endeavor to bring about the suspension of the coastwise laws relating to passengers in order to relieve an intolerable situation."

"In the midst of this discussion and almost out of a clear sky, we received word that the Great Northern Pacific

Steamship Company was considering placing in the Hawaiian service the fastest, most palatial and largest passenger accommodating steamer on the Pacific ocean. Praises H. P. Wood.

"On first thought this news sounded like the traditional luck of Hawaii, but in cold-blooded business, free from the gambling fungus, we can generally trace out that the word 'luck' is really a misnomer for work, and in the present instance we dig down under the root of luck and find our old friend H. P. Wood plugging away on lines which most of us, including the speaker, would have considered a waste of time. At the proper moment the Hawaii Promotion Committee, with its energetic chairman, E. A. Berndt, appears on the scene, gets behind Wood, and, presto, the steamship Great Northern is in Honolulu harbor with its fine complement of officers and the American flag flying, in spite of all the seamen's acts imposed or even dreamed of."

"You cannot hang canvas curtains in a drawing-room and likewise you cannot run the finest steamer in the Pacific ocean without furnishing the most efficient officers and men. I know that I bespeak the sentiment of the chamber in stating that the hands of Captain Ahman and his high type of officers will always be grasped in genuine friendship by those of our members whose good fortune brings them in contact with our guests of today."

"Now, gentlemen, I will ask you to forget the president of the Chamber of Commerce."

Will Fall into Step.

"As senior of the local firm representing the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company, I simply wish to add to the thanks of my fellow employees here present for the very kind reception extended to Captain Ahman and his officers. It will be the aim of the local agency to fall into step with the business methods and service always demanded by James J. Hill."

"Cal E. Stone, the general traffic manager of the company, cannot be omitted from the small number of men who are responsible for inaugurating this Hawaiian service. With his negative to the consideration of the venture, the Great Northern would not now be resting in the harbor of Honolulu. The plea he has sent forward to his many agents requesting their effort towards the success of the present venture is 'My life depends upon it.' Personally I have faith in his being able to say a few years hence, 'My life was made by it.'"

"In conclusion I will in turn ask you to forget the agents."

"I wish the privilege of making a few personal remarks regarding the innovation of the new Hull service in connection with already established competitive lines."

Not Here As "Rate Cutter."

"I have reason to believe that the Great Northern service will be absolutely independent. The steamer on the other hand is not being placed on the run as a rate cutter or with the idea of putting any line out of business. The competition will, in my opinion, be as valuable to the competing lines as it will be to the good of the public service."

"Presuming that the powers that be in Hawaii will, by their actions, make the Great Northern a permanent factor in the prosperity of the port, and as a hard and callous believer in the growth and cultivation of the tourist crop, I do not hesitate in expressing the belief that the continual operation of the Great Northern will add at least $5,000,000 per annum to the revenue of Hawaii.

"It has been very reasonably stated that the Great Northern has been handed to us on a silver platter. I want to put in a word of warning, however, that, in my opinion, the owners have handed us the Great Northern on a delicate glass dish, and that it is up to all of us to see that any individual who would jog our elbow at the risk of dropping the platter should be promptly hanged, drawn and quartered."

"In the meantime, I hope it will be our good fortune to welcome Captain Ahman and his officers every 20 days for many years to come."

JUDGE FINES JUROR WHO WAS BUSY TALKING AND ARRIVED AT COURT LATE

"There have been a number of cases of lapse of memory coming before this court and I trust this will aid your memory."

So spoke Circuit Judge Ashford this morning prior to fining F. E. Howes, a member of the trial jury, in the sum of $10 for contempt of court. Howes was summoned to be in court at 9 o'clock, but it was nearly 9:30 o'clock before he put in an appearance.

"I was talking to a customer, your honor, and did not notice the time," said Howes.

Later, Howes was called as a member in the Eugene Buchanan second-degree murder case.

The action brought by Dr. F. W. Herms for a writ of mandamus against Drs. M. E. Grossman, C. B. High and A. F. Derby, comprising the board of dental examiners, was discontinued in circuit court today, the notice having been filed by F. Schnack, Herms' attorney. In the writ Herms sought to compel the members of the board to grant him a license to practise dentistry in the Territory.
